

EARLY TREATY RECONSIDERATION SEEMS UNLIKELY

Ardent Supporters Do Not Expect New Congress to Take It Up at Outset.

U. S. STATUS UNCHANGED

Rejection, However, Will Have the Effect of Hastening Negotiations to Restore Relations Between Germany and Powers That Have Ratified.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Although not changing technically the existing status of relations between the United States and Germany, the Senate's failure to ratify the peace treaty at its special session is expected by administration officials and diplomats to have an indirect result of some importance on the steps now being taken to restore the world to a peace basis.

One of the first consequences, according to the view taken here, is likely to be the hastening of negotiations in Paris, including promulgation of the peace treaty which will restore full commercial and diplomatic relations between Germany and the powers which have ratified the treaty. Paris dispatches have said this step was waiting on the action of the Senate but it is thought there will be no further delay now for that reason.

The new Congress will meet on December 1 but not even the most ardent supporters of the treaty believe it would be possible to take it up again at the outset of the session. The Christmas recess was expected to intervene before much could be accomplished with the result that a clear field for the treaty consideration would not be opened before January at the earliest.

At present the war arrangements by which Spain is taking care of American interests in Germany continues in force and that is not expected to be disturbed. The rationing of supplies of various sorts to Germany must be begun under the treaty terms and the powerful reparations commission will be set up to determine all the details of Germany's commercial intercourse with other nations.

On this commission the United States will have a representative though it is hoped to work out a plan by which this country can keep in close touch with the body's work in order to protect American interests. The State Department is emphatic in its stand that no American consuls can be sent into Germany until peace has been established and they declare only an imperfect trade relation can be built up without the consular officers who are in charge of the large and of international trade.

A contrary view is held by some of the Senators who opposed ratification of the treaty. Notable in that connection is the stand taken by Senator Knox, Pennsylvania, a former secretary of state, who holds that by the language of the treaty full commercial and diplomatic intercourse can be resumed with Germany by all of her late enemies as soon as the process verbal is exchanged.

NEW INDUSTRIAL BOARD

President Names 17 Men From Many Lines of Activity.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Wilson today appointed a new industrial conference and called it into session here December 1.

The conference will be composed of 7 men, including government officials, business men and former members of the cabinet, and will carry on the work undertaken by the national industrial conference which foundered on the rocks of collective bargaining.

FIND BIG STILL

Forty-Gallon Home Distillery Near New Castle.

By Associated Press.

NEW CASTLE, Nov. 20.—A whisky still capable of making 40 gallons a day was found by federal officers and heretofore on a farm near here at midnight yesterday. One arrest was made.

A quantity of mash made of raising and was taken to the county jail, hauled over three times within six hours, showing considerable strength, was the second still found within 24 hours.

FORNWAHL SUPERINTENDENT

James I. Fornwahl, who has been assistant to Superintendent C. R. Rank of the H. C. Frick Coke plant, succeeding J. T. Pissala, who was transferred to Whiting, Mr. Fornwahl is moving his family from 1018 Eighth street, Greenwood, to their new home.

Berlin Snowbound

BERLIN, Wednesday, Nov. 19.—Four-foot snow drifts block the streets of the capital. The cost of removal is jumped from 30 pfennigs per cubic foot in peace times to four and one-half marks. On this basis it will cost more than 2,000,000 marks to clear the city.

TEACHERS' SALARY INCREASE BILL HITS THE POORER DISTRICTS

State Seeking Means of Giving Them Relief; Carroll's Advice Is Sought.

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Nov. 20.—Called by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, County Superintendent J. S. Carroll left for Harrisburg, Monday morning to attend a special conference of the principal county superintendents, with the state superintendent and his department to ascertain the facts as to how the teachers' increase salary bill affects to poorer districts of the state, and if adversely, to discover a remedy.

Before the operation of the new bill, a provision was placed in the code by Mr. Carroll, when he was in the legislature, to assist the poorer districts to bear the increased costs of their schools by securing state aid to partially remunerate the district for the increased salaries to teachers. The increased salary bill of last year did not continue that provision and it was found that the poorer districts would be very hard pressed to even then they could meet the increases provided by the new bill. Mr. Carroll is thoroughly conversant with this fact having personally ascertained from the several mountain districts of the county just the extent of the burden and its oppressiveness, and he delivered an address before that gathering, showing the needs, and suggesting that these struggling districts be assisted as formerly by the state in maintaining their schools up to the present day standards.

Mr. Carroll is hopeful that a remedy can be found for the difficulty, and that the department will find the way and the authority to enforce it. The districts of this county where the need is most felt are those in the eastern and southeastern sections where agriculture is practically the sole support of the people.

STRIKE SPREADING

More Than a Score of Mines in New River District Close Down.

By Associated Press.

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 20.—The new strikes of miners in the New River coal field is rapidly spreading and more than a score of mines ceased operation today, according to reports received at the district headquarters of the United Mine Workers here.

Practically all mines in this section are reported to be shut down. Officials of the United Mine Workers declared that the operators are serving notice on the men throughout the district that the "checkoff" system has been abolished and existing contracts with the union are terminated. "Miners are quitting work as fast as they are notified of the new policy," said E. Stafford, district board member. "They will not work under such conditions and the leaders cannot compel them to return."

TO TEST DRY ACT

Prohibition Law Decision Sought of Supreme Court.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Supreme court was asked today to determine the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act as well as the Volstead prohibition enforcement act during arguments in appeals brought to test the right of Congress to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

While many conflicting decisions have been rendered in various parts of the country upon the question, today's argument involved only three cases, one from Kentucky, in which the war-time act was declared unconstitutional, and two from New York, in which the authority of Congress not only to make the country dry but to enforce it was sustained.

SEALER NOT ACTING

Suggestion Made That George Hetzel Assume Duties.

Severa, weeks ago J. D. Stillwagon was appointed by Acting Mayor R. W. Hoover to the position of city sealer of weights and measures. He has not assumed the office and the suggestion has been made that Health Officer George Hetzel could without overburdening himself take on this additional work. It is expected the failure of the appointee to enter upon his duties will be called to the attention of council when it meets again. Mr. Stillwagon was appointed for the remaining months of this year.

Soon after he was named it was said he would begin his work as soon as a supply of seals of proper date had been secured. These have not been ordered, it is said.

MANY IMPORTANT MEASURES PASSED BY 66TH CONGRESS

Momentous Legislation Completed and Other Laws Prepared For Regular Session.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Was Called By Cable From President Wilson in Paris and Convened May 19 Primarily to Consider Appropriation Bills That Had Failed to Pass.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—While consideration of the treaty of Versailles was the outstanding event of the first session of the 66th Congress, the first in six years in which Republicans have controlled both branches, considerable important legislation was completed and many other measures prepared for disposal when the regular meeting begins December 1.

The session closing today was an extraordinary one convened May 19 under a call issued from Paris by President Wilson to consider primarily the appropriation bills which failed at the session ending last March 3. Among the principal legislative achievements were:

Submission of the woman suffrage amendment to the states for ratification; the amendment resolution was adopted, 304 to 59, by the House as its first legislative act and by the Senate, June 4, by a vote of 56 to 45. The prohibition enforcement bill providing for enforcing war-time and constitutional prohibition passed over President Wilson's veto.

The act repealing the daylight saving law also passed over the President's veto.

Providing for return of telegraph, telephone and cable wire lines to private operation.

Continuing government control of dyes to January 15 next.

Extension of the Lever food and fuel control laws to clothing and other necessities, and penalizing hoarding and profiteering.

Ten appropriation bills aggregating three billion dollars also were passed. They included $750,000,000 for the railroad administration; $772,000,000 for the Army; $618,000,000 for the Navy; and a sundry civil budget of $618,000,000.

WRITES "LOVE LYRICS"

Hubby Didn't Like Wife's Sending Them to Another Man.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 20.—"Love is such a funny thing; it's just like a lizard. It gets around your heart and wants to nibble at your gizzard."

Kathryn Hakin, wife of William H. Hakin, an overseas veteran, of Maryland, near here, wrote a letter to Frank Barnhill of Brownsville, Pa., incorporating this verse. Barnhill turned the letter over to Hakin and Tuesday Judge C. J. Lynch granted Hakin a divorce. Hakin testified he was given the note by Barnhill when he went to Brownsville, his wife's home, to visit her following his return from France.

GOING TO NEW YORK

Joe Hood to Establish New York Branch of Local Concern.

Joseph D. Hood, son of Charles F. Hood, president of Highland Electric Chemical company, will leave shortly for New York to establish headquarters for the sale of "Auto-San," a fumigating and disinfecting compound which has recently been added to the list of this company's well known products.

Mr. Hood has been in charge of the marketing of the product in this territory and has met with such success that it has been decided to put on a similar campaign in the east, with New York as the central point of distribution and sale.

DISCUSS INCREASE

Western Pennsylvania Publishers Confer in Pittsburgh.

Representatives of daily newspapers in Western Pennsylvania are holding a conference at the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, today to discuss an increase in advertising and subscription rates and means of conserving newspaper paper. A luncheon was tendered by publishers of Pittsburgh newspapers.

Among those in attendance are J. J. Diselco, secretary-treasurer and business manager of The Courier and John O'Donnell, Uniontown News-Standard.

MEETING CALLED IN INTEREST OF CITY'S HOUSING PROBLEM

Mayor Proposes That Citizens Contribute to Erection of 500 Homes; Chamber of Commerce Talks.

A mass meeting of citizens to discuss the housing situation in Connellsville has been called for Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at city hall by Mayor John Duggan. The mayor will submit a proposal that citizens contribute toward the erection of 500 homes to relieve the shortage.

The mayor, according to his announcement, is ready to put up the money for the erection of four houses, regardless of the high cost of materials and labor, which, he says, is unlikely to decline in several years, if at all.

Mr. Duggan also will start a movement at the meeting for the reorganization of the chamber of commerce.

MINERS DECLARE WAGE INCREASE OFFER IS TOO LOW

Operators Propose 15 Cents a Ton and 20 Per Cent Over Existing Day Scale.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An increase in wages of 15 cents per ton and 20 per cent over the existing day scale to become effective immediately the bituminous coal miners return to work was offered by the operators at the meeting today of the wage scale committee in the central competitive bituminous field. In announcing the offer Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' committee, said the operators had proposed the existing working conditions be continued and that the contract be operating until March 31, 1922.

John Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the increase was totally inadequate, adding that the miners had not assumed the offer had been made seriously. The operators, he said, had proposed increases in the price of miners' supplies which would absorb practically all the wage advances.

A poetic composition dealing with the encampment was read by Mr. Goldsmith, the other charter member. The chief speaker of the evening was Rev. T. W. Colburn of Uniontown, whose address dealt with the national history of the encampment degrees of Odd Fellowship.

Others participating in the exercises of the evening were J. W. Pringle, who welcomed the guests and presided; John Davis, lector; Misses Orr and Marie Drivler, vocal soloists; Walter Hays, reading; the banquet was served in the dining hall of the temple, with John Wilder as chef, assisted by a number of men and young women. The whole affair was under the direction of a committee composed of J. W. Pringle, S. R. Cox and James Addis. The supper was declared to be the best the Odd Fellows ever served.

PASTOR KILLED WHEN HIS MOTORCYCLE AND AN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Rev. J. E. Morris, Colored, of Uniontown, Fatally Hurt in Collision at Leisensburg.

While on his way to Uniontown this afternoon, Rev. J. E. Morris, colored, pastor of St. Paul's A. M. E. church of Uniontown, was fatally injured when a motorcycle on which he was riding collided with an automobile driven by C. W. Wiley of Gibson avenue. He died on the way to the Cottage State hospital.

The accident occurred about 2 o'clock on the state road near the Gallagher farm near Leisensburg No. 1. The body was removed to funeral director C. C. Mitchell's parlors and prepared for burial.

Rev. Morris had been pastor of St. Paul's A. M. E. church, Uniontown, for several years and was prominent in the Pittsburgh conference of the negro Methodist church. At the last session of conference he was elected a delegate to the general conference of the church at St. Louis. He leaves a wife and several children. He was between 30 and 35 years old.

Several months ago Rev. Harris was arrested in Uniontown for reckless driving of his motorcycle.

NEW HOSPITAL RATE

Compensation Board Fixes $100 as Maximum Payment.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Announcement of a new maximum charge in compensation cases has been made by the compensation board. A statement issued says:

"In accidents happening after January 1, 1920, where there are both medical and hospital charges, or hospital charges alone, the board will rule $100 as a maximum charge for the latter."

Clause 6, Section 303 of the compensation act of 1915 stipulated that the cost of reasonable medical, surgical or hospital service, nursing and supplies during the first 14 days after disability should not exceed $25 unless a major surgical operation were necessary, in which case it should not exceed $75.

GENERAL WORTH ENCAMPMENT ENDS 50 YEARS OF LIFE

Odd Fellows Tell of Ups and Downs at Anniversary Dinner and Social.

NEVER QUITE BROKE

Though at Times Only Three Members Could Be Gotten Charter Was Retained; No One of County; State Rank High.

The completion of 50 years of life among the fraternal organization of the city, during which time it had numerous ups and downs, was observed by General Worth Encampment No. 138 at the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at a social session and turkey supper Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows temple, attended by about 125 members of the encampment, members of the subordinate lodges, William McKinley and General Worth, and wives and sweethearts of the members of the three bodies. It was as the leaders hoped it would be, one of the happiest occasions of the half century.

Of the charter members of the encampment two were present—Henry Goldsmith and W. L. Robbins. There is no record of the entire charter list. Others of the number are alive, among them Lloyd Johnston, but they are not now members of the encampment. Mr. Johnston was admitted at the time the charter was granted, October 25, 1869, other officers being Joseph Kurry, chief patriarch; W. L. Robbins, junior warden; I. D. Skilling, high priest; H. W. Dull, senior warden, and John Wilcox, treasurer.

Reminiscences of the 50 years were given by Mr. Robbins. Several times, said the gray-haired veteran, the encampment all but broke up, but it never lost its charter. At times only three and four could be gotten together. They met at the homes of members and kept up the payment of dues and benefits and thus carried out the provisions of the charter. Now he said, General Worth Encampment ranks as the leading one in the county and one of the strongest in this part of the state.

A poetic composition dealing with the encampment was read by Mr. Goldsmith, the other charter member. The chief speaker of the evening was Rev. T. W. Colburn of Uniontown, whose address dealt with the national history of the encampment degrees of Odd Fellowship.

TROLLEY SERVICE CUT

Indiana Acts in Effort to Conserve Fuel Supply.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Curtailed of interurban service another step in the effort to control coal supply of the state became effective on several electric traction lines in Indiana today. The action, in compliance with an order of the state public service commission, follows by a few days the institution throughout the state of lightless nights.

It was stated today unless an agreement is reached in Washington by miners and operators within 10 days, the coal shortage will cause the suspension of many industries.

MORE FOOD ORDERED

Clothing, Shoes and Brooms Also in Requisition on Government.

Antonio Bufano last night dispatched to Congressman S. A. Keck in Washington an order for a cartload of shoes, clothing, brooms and food for the municipal store in Connellsville. Included in the food list were beans, peas, corn and tea.

Mr. Bufano yesterday received samples of the shoes offered by the Pennsylvania railroad went through town yesterday afternoon. Stations and tracks were inspected on the Southwest branch.

To Seek Remedy.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—As a means of allaying industrial unrest the American Mining Congress here today appointed a committee to investigate methods in use at plants where labor troubles successfully have been combated and prepare a program acceptable both to capital and labor.

90,000 to Take Census

About 95,000 people were engaged in taking the census of the United States. The 1920 census will require the services of 90,000.

DR. BURGESS WILL RESIGN LUTHERAN CHURCH PASTORATE

Head of Trinity Congregation 22 Years Is Elected President of Pittsburgh Synod.

The election of Rev. Dr. Ellis B. Burgess as president of the Pittsburgh synod of the United Lutheran Church of America at Wednesday's session at Pittsburgh will mean the retirement of Dr. Burgess from the pastorate of the Connellsville church which he has held for nearly 22 years. The presidency of the synod is a salaried position and will require the entire time of the incumbent, making it impracticable for Dr. Burgess to continue in the pastoral work here.

Last March 9 the Lutheran church at Greensburg voted to extend a call to Dr. Burgess. The following Sunday Trinity congregation passed resolutions urging that their pastor remain. At the weekly prayer service on Wednesday following Dr. Burgess announced he would remain. The hope had been that he would continue as pastor at least until he had reached the quarter century mark here.

Whether Dr. Burgess will continue to reside in Connellsville or transfer his home to Pittsburgh was not known here today.

For a number of years Dr. Burgess has been synod historian and chairman of the board of statistics. He is the author of the "History of the Lutheran Church of Western Pennsylvania," and is recognized as an authority on facts and figures pertaining to the church. He holds the title of doctor of divinity, conferred by Gettysburg college.

Other officers elected at the meeting Wednesday were: Secretary, Rev. John J. Myers, McKees Rocks; statistical secretary, Rev. George H. Scaumb, Erie; treasurer, Rev. G. L. Rankin, retired, Homestead; superintendent of missions, Rev. Dr. J. Elmer Bittle, Wilkensburg. Dr. Bittle has held the same position in the Pittsburgh synod of the general synod for 15 years.

At the afternoon session boundaries were fixed by the synod dividing the Pittsburgh district, which comprises approximately 710 churches, into eight conferences as follows: No. 1, or Northwest; No. 2, or Northeast; No. 3, or South; No. 4, or West; No. 5, or Southwest; No. 6, or East; No. 7, or Middle; No. 8, or German conference.

TO ENLARGE SHOPS

Addition Soon to Be Started by the West Penn Here.

Among other bits of information given out by officials of the West Penn Railways company during their visit here yesterday for the business men, much mention was made of the erection of an addition to the shops on the West Side to be undertaken shortly. This will be a building for the accommodation of the winding department, which is now in the rear of the machine shop and in quarters inadequate for the volume of work.

The building will be 60 feet long and 45 feet wide and will be located between the paint shop and the carpenter shop, using ground the company already has. What the cost will be has not been made known. Construction will be of brick and steel.

The winding department now employs 30 men, women and girls. As the business of the company grows, this department needs for larger quarters.

SENATE REJECTS PEACE TREATY BY VOTE OF 51 TO 41

Lodge Resolution of Ratification With Drastic Reservations Defeated.

WAR-TIME LAWS CONTINUE

One Effect of Senate's Failure to Approve Versailles Pact Will Be Keeping in Effect of Prohibition Act and Other Temporary Acts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—After a desperate parliamentary struggle, the Senate just before 10 o'clock last night, by a vote of 51 to 41, rejected the treaty of peace with Germany by defeating, for the second time, the Lodge resolution with the drastic reservations of the foreign relations committee majority, which was opposed by President Wilson, who had written Senator Hitchcock that the reservations were not acceptable.

The treaty is dead through the votes of the Democratic minority, said Senator Lodge. They stubbornly refused compromise when it could have been made. The opportunity was gone, once the Senate reached the voting stage.

This defeat of the treaty was brought about by the administration Democrats, aided by eight of the irreconcilables among the Republicans. Earlier in the night, the Senate, by a vote of 55 to 39, had defeated the Lodge resolution. It came up again, however, after various parliamentary moves during which the administration forces endeavored vainly to substitute resolutions embracing reservations of their own.

Immediately after the last vote, which spelt the doom of the treaty, as far as this session of Congress is concerned, Senator Lodge, the majority leader, offered a concurrent resolution, declaring a peace to exist between Germany and the United States, this being done so as to pave the way for an independent treaty with Germany.

Inasmuch as the House had adjourned sine die, the Lodge resolution had to be taken over until the next session of Congress, which meets December 1. The Senate after disposing of the treaty, also adjourned sine die.

One effect of the Senate's failure to ratify the treaty will be continuation of various war-time laws and regulations, at least until the new session opens. Among these is the war-time prohibition act.

The resolution presented last night to decide a state of peace will come up at the beginning of the new session and is expected to carry another robust night. The administration is understood to be opposed to such a method of legally ending the war and, in the background, is a constitutional question as to whether Congress can do so by resolution not requiring the President's signature.

After the Democrats had, for the second time, voted down the Lodge resolution of ratification, Senator Underwood (Democrat) of Alabama offered a substitute resolution of ratification without reservations. Although Senator Lodge and the majority working with him had blocked all previous efforts of the Democrats to obtain votes on any resolution of their own through parliamentary points of order, Mr. Lodge allowed the Underwood resolution to come to a vote.

The Underwood substitute was promptly defeated by a vote of 38 to 33. Seven Democratic senators—Gore, Reed, Shields, Smith (Georgia), Trammell, Thomas and Walsh—voted against it, and one Republican senator, McCumber of North Dakota, voted for it. The vote on this resolution ended the efforts of the minority to save the treaty. After the Senate had voted the treaty down, Senator Fletcher (Democrat) of Florida, suggested that the Senate communicate word of its action to President Wilson. Upon this, Senator Penrose (Republican) of Pennsylvania exclaimed: "Oh, we'll know of it well enough."

WEST PENN PLACES ORDER FOR SEVENTY STEEL FREIGHT CARS

Equipment Will Be for Transportation of Coal to Power Plants of Trolley Company.

The West Penn Railway company has placed an order for the delivery as soon as possible of 70 steel freight cars of 100,000 pounds capacity for the transportation of coal to its power plants, principally that at Connettsville. This news was given out last night by William Fish, vice president of the West Penn system, in charge of railroads.

At this time the West Penn does not own any freight cars but depends, as does the average consumer of coal, on the supply the railroads have. It is to avoid a possible shortage in times of emergency that it was determined to purchase this equipment. The date of delivery is indefinite. Mr. Fish said.

BIG GAME SATURDAY

Much Enthusiasm Over Clash Between C. B. S. and Dunbar Township.

Football enthusiasm is at fever heat in the high school this week, and more interest is being shown in Saturday's game with Dunbar township high school than there has been in any previous game this season. The biggest attendance of the year is expected, Saturday afternoon. Dunbar township feels that her day has arrived and that this year she will even up in a measure for the long string of football defeats at the hands of the local high school. The township students and all their friends expect to be present to rejoice over the victory that they are sure is theirs. The city students are not willing to admit that any disaster such as a defeat at the hands of Dunbar township is impending, but they are not doing any boasting and will be on hand in larger numbers than ever Saturday afternoon to encourage and support their team as they battle to add another victory at the expense of the township lads. Both schools are busy in putting the finishing touches on their cheers and songs and a spirited rooting duel is promised for Saturday afternoon.

Coach Folk put his charges through another spirited practice yesterday afternoon, and finish and precision have been obtained in connection with new plays. The players have practically recovered from the bruises of the Meeker game and with the exception of Dunbar who still has a pronounced limp, all should be in good physical condition for the game.

TO CALL NEW PASTOR

United Presbyterians Will Vote at Connettsville Meeting Sunday. The congregation of the United Presbyterian church will vote on a pastor following the morning service next Sunday. There are said to be several candidates.

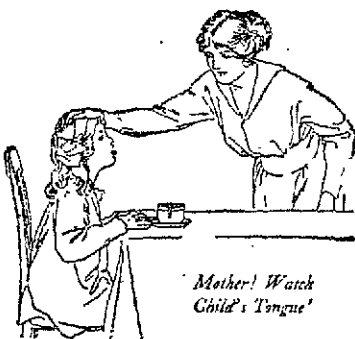

The latest to speak here was Rev. M. A. Eakin of Steubenville, Ohio, who filled the pulpit two weeks ago last Sunday and who is said to have made a very favorable impression. The one chosen for the pastorate will succeed Rev. William J. Dierbach, who died of pneumonia while in training at Camp Zachary Taylor.

Notice.

The Grim Reaper

MRS. WILLIAM DEAN

Mrs. Margaret Jones Dean, wife of William Dean, and a former resident of Connettsville and vicinity, died Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at her home in Gallatin avenue, Uniontown, at the age of 49 years. Death was due to pneumonia. Mrs. Dean was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones who lived for many years at Wheeling and Morrell Uniontown had been her place of residence for 18 years. She was a member of the Great British Baptist church. Besides her husband, she is employed as a traveling saleswoman. Mrs. Dean is survived by the following children: Mrs. Robert Smith, Cincinnati, Ohio and James Maxwell and William at home. She leaves also three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. John Edge, in Iowa; Mrs. John Youm, McCookville, Connellsville; Mrs. Belle Wilson, Uniontown, and James and Thomas Jones, Uniontown.

A Cheerful Recommendation.

"They should be in every traveling man's kit," writes Geo. Jenner, 428 Laurel St., St. Antonio, Tex., of Foley Cathartic Tablets. "They are the best laxative I have taken and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with constipation or biliousness." They thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and benefit the liver. They correct indigestion, bad breath, bloating gas, coated tongue and other results of sluggish bowels. No griping; no nausea. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

FAMOUS SURGEON COMIN

Dr. Crile of Cleveland to Connettsville in Uniontown.

Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, O., will conduct the diagnostic clinic to be held at the Uniontown hospital, Thursday afternoon, December 3, under the auspices of the Fayette Medical society. The clinic will be the most important one held in the history of the society. Dr. Crile's clinic at the Lakeside hospital, Cleveland, O., is one of the most noted in the world. He is recognized as an authority on various kinds of anesthesia, as has done much to perfect this, the any other physician. He organized hospital with which was the first to leave the country for France in the world war.

Upon his arrival in Uniontown Dr. Crile will be met by a reception committee and at noon Dr. A. S. Hays will be held at a luncheon. In the evening the annual banquet of the society will be held at the Laurel club rooms. Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen and Dr. E. A. Hadd will deliver addresses.

Subject to Crisp. "When my son Charles was about eight years of age he was subject to attacks of cramp and I never felt so without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Remedy in the house. The remedy when given according to directions relieved him immediately. I can not praise Chamberlain's Colic Remedy too highly," writes Mr. Charles London, Mayville, N. Y.

NEWS OF THE DAY AT MT. PLEASANT BRIEFLY RELATED

Friends of School Children Invited to Exercises at First Ward Friday.

TOWNSHIP HIGH IS WINNER

Defeated Borough H. S. By Score of 6 to 0 In Hard-fought Game; Visitors Have the Edge, Their Goal Line Being Threatened But Once.

Special to The Courier.

MT. PLEASANT, Nov. 20.—The following program will be given Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Ward school building and all friends of the school are cordially invited to be present: "Familiar Faces," seventh grade; "Little Red Riding Hood," Jack Frost, second grade; "Calisthenics," sixth grade; "Swing Coats," Jack Frost; "The Swings," first grade; "Mother Goose," fifth grade; "Little Red Hen," "House That Jack Built," first grade; folk dance, third grade; "Alladin and His Lamp," fourth grade; flag drill, fourth and fifth grades.

The exercises are part of "Friends of the schools day," to be observed at all buildings on Friday. As part of the general program there will be a football game between the high school team and Latrobe at 3:30 P. M. in Frick park, to which patrons are invited.

From 7 to 9 Friday night, the Third ward pupils will hold a social in their building, at which an enjoyable program will be rendered.

Township High Wins.—In the most closely contested game of the season Mt. Pleasant Township high school defeated the Mt. Pleasant high at Frick park by a score of 6 to 0. The township boys scored early in the game but were unable to score again although they were several times in striking distance of the goal. The greater part of the final quarter the ball was in Mt. Pleasant territory. Mr. Pleasant had one opportunity to score but the township boys tightened and after four unsuccessful attempts at the goal, the ball went to the township on its three-yard line, where Evans punted it out of danger. Both teams were well supplied with rosters and the cheering contest between the student bodies of the two schools was spirited. The work of the officials was of high class.

To Play With Newton.—Mount Pleasant Township high school will play West Newton high team at the Mount Pleasant Township Athletic Field, Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

She Darkened Her Gray Hair.—Mrs. E. H. Booth, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barry Compound and one half ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp; is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."—Adv.

Confluence.—Nov. 22.—About 20 of the friends of Mrs. Fred Marquart, formerly Miss Thea Walton, who was recently married, gathered at her home Tuesday evening and presented her with a very valuable and beautiful reading lamp. A very enjoyable time was spent in music and games. A dainty lunch was served.

Thirty-four men and boys, members of the Christian church, held a banquet Tuesday night in honor of Father and Son, day. Several fine addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Diehl and others. Lloyd Mountain was toastmaster. A splendid lunch was served.

George Phillips, the lumberman, left yesterday for a business visit to Connelville and Uniontown.

Prof. C. E. Koenig, who has been very ill, state he is still in a serious condition.

Herman Parnell, who was recently discharged by the government after several years' service, a part of which time he served in France and Germany, has been spending several days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parnell here.

Prof. A. B. Coker, assistant county superintendent of schools, of Berlin, was a business visitor here yesterday.

Harry Hanna of Dumas has returned from a business visit to Somerset.

Miss Florence Cummins who was spending a few days' vacation here, has returned to her work as Baltimore & Ohio operator at Morgantown, W. Va.

Rev. C. W. Diehl and family have returned from a visit to friends at Myersdale.

J. B. Coiborn and son William, of the Jersey church, was here yesterday and loaded a large ear of cattle for Holtsapple.

C. E. Critchfield was a business visitor to Connelville yesterday.

BEEHIVE OUTPUT MADE 8 PER CENT GAIN WEEK NOV. 8

Coal Strike Stimulates Instead of Retarding Unfavorably; Loss Elsewhere Made Up Here.

The coal strike instead of reacting unfavorably upon the output of beehive coke, appears to have stimulated it, says the weekly report of the United States Geological Survey. Production during the week ended November 8 is estimated at 374,427 tons, an increase of eight per cent over the preceding week. Indeed with one exception this week's output was the largest obtained since the beginning of the steel strike, September 22.

Whatever decline in the output of beehive coke was caused by the strike in the districts where the union manifested strength—Alabama, Tennessee, Colorado and Washington—was more than offset by the increased production of the great beehive coke district surrounding Connelville. An ample supply of cars was made possible for that and other non-union fields by the closing down of the union mines. The fact that the war-time prices have been restored for coal but not for coke has placed a premium upon the conversion of coal into coke at the mine.

In the following table the output of beehive coke during the last three months is compared with that of pig iron, in the manufacture of which 80 per cent of all the coke made is consumed.

Beehive Coke, Pig Iron

Net Tons Gross Tons
August 1,731,871 2,743,388
September 1,750,487 2,817,562
October 1,950,217 3,163,553

It will be noted that whereas the production of pig fell off 25 per cent from September to October, the production of beehive fell off only half as much, a fact which suggests that iron furnaces were adding to their stocks of coke during the period of the steel strike before the coal strike began.

Production by districts, compared with the corresponding week of last year, was as follows:

1919 1918

Penn. and Ohio 1,731,871 1,424,354
Ala. Tenn. Ga. 28,564 23,371
Va. and Ky. 24,248 23,292
Colo., Okla., N. M. 11,187 23,318
Wash. and Utah 4,624 10,893

TOTAL 1,950,217 3,532,228

THE PROPER WAY TO TAKE ASPIRIN

First See That the Tablets You Take Are Marked With the "Bayer Cross"

The Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin, tell in their careful directions in each package of genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" that to get best results one or two glasses of water should be drunk after taking tablets.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" to be genuine must be marked with the safely "Bayer Cross." Then you are getting the world-famous Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over 18 years.

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost but a few cents. Drugists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocrocinolide of Salicylic Acid.

Aged Man Badly Burned.—BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 19.—James Ransall, aged 80, was probably fatally burned at his home two miles from here during last night. When he found the house in flames he attempted to recover valuables in another room. His escape was cut off but he crawled through the fire to the door where he was rescued by neighbors.

Could Not Eat or Sleep

Vinol, our Cod Liver and Iron Tonic, gave him appetite and felt like different man.

Ruston, Pa.—"I am a working man and got all run down so I could not eat, sleep or work. Vinol was recommended for my condition. It built me up so I eat well, sleep well, can work all day long and am not tired. In fact, I feel like a different man since I took it."—John J. Wilson.

"Men feel and worry. That's why they overwork, get nervous, all run down, have no appetite, and can hardly drag around." Vinol creates a hearty appetite, induces sound sleep, invigorates the nerves, creates strength and quiets the nerves.

It is the best and cod liver peptones contained in Vinol, aided by iron and glycerophosphates which makes it such a famous blood maker, nerve builder and strength creator.

LAURET DRUG CO. Vinol is sold in Dunbar by D. C. EASON, and drugists everywhere.

TO GET STATE AID

Institutions Held Up Because of Secular Charge Win Case.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—President Judge George Kunkel of the Dauphin county court, in an opinion filed recently, sustained the demurrer of the commonwealth to the equity action brought by Willis Collins of Delaware county to restrain payment of appropriations to more than 60 hospitals and homes on the ground that they are sectarian institutions. The equity proceedings are dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The court upholds the contention that the bill involving so many institutions is "multifarious," saying: "The bill is an attempt to litigate in one proceeding the claims of 66 institutions which arise out of independent and distinct acts of assembly and which must necessarily be adjudicated each upon its own evidence without reference to the others."

The court also says: "None of the institutions is interested in the money appropriated to the others." It is only interested in its own appropriation in which the others are in no wise concerned. The applicability of the law and the validity of the appropriations must depend exclusively upon the particular facts in each case.

In discussing the action, the court remarks: "Each claim would be heard upon its own evidence and in the order in which it would be presented. Thus nothing is gained by joining the claims in the same bill save the costs and the expense incident to the proceeding."

PNEUMATIC TIRE FOUND TO GIVE MOST SATISFACTORY SERVICE ON MOTOR TRUCK

From Every Standpoint Pneumatic-Tired Truck Is Superior.

"Contrary to the general supposition, it is more dangerous, to be in advance of, than behind, the procession in the matter of introducing improvements in a motor car," said F. H. Akers, sales manager of an eastern motor car concern.

"I am reminded of this by the fact that just at this time all manufacturers are either equipping motor trucks with pneumatic tires or making it optional with the buyer.

"After the most exhaustive comparative tests with several trucks of the same model, some equipped with pneumatics and others with solid tires, our engineers found that from every standpoint the pneumatic-tired truck was infinitely superior.

"First—It was more efficient for the reason that it would travel at nearly twice the speed and thereby make twice as many trips in a given time.

Upkeep Cost Less. "Second—The upkeep cost was almost unbelievably less, due to the fact that not only did we obtain more mileage on a set of pneumatics than on solids, but that the air cushion effects a wonderful saving on the chassis.

"Not only that, but after 2,000 or 3,000 miles the resiliency in the rubber has been exhausted or, as the motorists say, the rubber 'tires' (not a pun, but meaning fatigue) and acquires more the consistency of wood than of gutta percha.

"Also our engineers found that the fuel consumption was less for the well-known reason that any pneumatic-tired vehicle requires less power.

"Another factor that was much in favor of the pneumatics was the absence of injury to loads of fragile materials. Perishable goods suffer less in a pneumatic-tired truck than they do in a solid-tired vehicle, even though the latter go at half the speed.

"Lighting was another problem. "First we had kerosene lamps and then came the carbide tank.

"With some reason there was objection to this on the ground that it was dangerous.

"A lot of people had to be convinced that if the car got into a smashup the gas tank would not explode.

"It sounds ridiculous at this late date, but it is a fact, that although every motorist wanted to get away from the drudgery and the danger of cranking his car there was a tremendous opposition to every form of self-starter.

"We expected and were prepared for a battle when we decided that the right thing for a light, high-speed truck was pneumatic tires, but we have always believed it was our duty to give the buyer the best our experience dictated and so we went through with it.

"Everyone now admits the pneumatic-tired truck is inevitable, because it is the solution of most of the trucking problems, so we feel well repaid for our missionary work."

LOOK FOR ANOTHER POMPEII

Archaeologists Expect to Uncover Treasures of Art Hidden for Some Twenty Centuries.

During the war archaeological excavations were continued at the Italian colony of Syrenia on the north African coast, and now comes the news that what has been found already promises the uncovering of another ancient city as important as Pompeii. Once upon a time the spot was a Greek colony, with the civilization of Greece transplanted to the soil of Africa. The work has been carried on during the war under the supervision of Prof. Lucio Mariani, director of the archaeological service of the ministry of the colonies, and the prediction is now made that the newly discovered city will eventually prove actually richer than Pompeii in its evidence of a past civilization. Here have been found already statues of the Graces, a Hermes, an Eros, an Alexander the Great and most impressive of all, the Aphrodite of Cyrene, which is said by certain connoisseurs to be a fair rival in beauty to the Venus of Milo and the Venus of Callidus. The discoveries have extended over a good many years. It may be added, however, as an illustration of the modified joys of archaeology, and the introduction of a new mystery into the history of art, that the Aphrodite of Cyrene lacks both head and arms. The world may wonder what she looked like as well as what she was supposed to be doing.

For Itching Eczema, Old Sores and Piles

"I guarantee my ointment," says Peterson of Buffalo, "to cure eczema; to stop the itching at once and any reliable druggists will cheerfully refund your money if PETERSON'S OINTMENT doesn't do everything I say it will do."

William A. Carter of Franklin, N. Y., is surely a wise man. He writes: "I used PETERSON'S OINTMENT on a little boy suffering terribly with eczema. It did the work."

Then there is Alex. Loust, a brave fireman of Buffalo, who is glad to write as follows: "I had an old sore on my leg for many years. The best doctors failed. PETERSON'S OINTMENT entirely healed the sore quickly." And from over in Canada comes a letter from A. Blockley, stating: "The best thing I ever had for itching piles is PETERSON'S OINTMENT." A big box for 35 cents—Adv.

PAYS TO STAY IN SCHOOL

Fact Shown in Dollars and Cents by Figures Compiled by Bureau of Education.

The value of staying at school is stated in dollars and cents in figures recently compiled by the bureau of education and distributed to boys and girls throughout the country by the children's bureau.

From a study of a large number of actual cases it has been found that at twenty-five years of age the boy who remained in school until he was eighteen had received $2,000 more salary than the boy who left school at fourteen, and that the better-educated youth was then receiving more than $900 a year more in pay.

"This is equivalent to an investment of $15,000 at 5 per cent," the statement said. "Can a boy increase his capital as fast in any other way?"

"From this time on the salary of the better-educated boy will rise still more rapidly, while the earnings of the boy who left school at fourteen will increase but little."

The Green Sawyer. Gen. Marlborough Churchill was talking in Washington about the work of the intelligence department, of which he is the head.

"It is delicate work," Gen. Marlborough Churchill said, "work that requires experience. The inexperienced intelligence officer—and we had a lot of him during the war—is apt to be about as useful as the young college man in the lumber camp."

"This college man was sent to work on a cross-section with an old-stager. He saved pretty well for an hour or so, and then his strength gave out. Still he kept on, or tried to keep on, but all of a sudden the old-stager stopped. 'Son,' he said, 'I don't mind your riding on the saw, but if it's just the same to you, I'll not let you keep your feet off the ground.'"

FROM WAR TO PEACE IN MOTOR INDUSTRY

Automobile Trade Did More Than Its Bit to Help Win War.

Fleet of American Trucks Coming In to Use for Additional Transportation Facilities Needs Services of Released Soldiers.

As a single industry the automobile trade did more than its bit to help win the war. Not only did manufacturers come up to specifications in quantity and quality of delivery, but they built better than it was thought they knew how. Proof of this was given the other day when, at an auction of old army cars in France, the French and the English bid higher prices for the cars than they cost the American government new. An army of men was employed to run these trucks and cars on the firing line. They gained more experience in a month of that sort of work than they could have gained in a lifetime of peace work.

The rolling stock will be left abroad, but the men are coming back. They are being released daily from military service, and are returning to large numbers to civilian life. There is no lack of work for them to do. For the fleet of American trucks now coming into use for additional transportation facilities all over the country needs just such men—men who have learned how to act in any emergency, who feel almost immediately the idiosyncrasies of every motor, who have acquired an efficiency under shell fire that will make them leaders in their work in peace times.

Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, who is in charge of the re-employment work for ex-service men, announces that a number of such men are now available for private employment. The automobile industry will not lose this opportunity of obtaining men who, to their pre-war ability, have added the exceptional training and experience of months on the firing line. These men will be in demand, and can be obtained through governmental and welfare employment agencies, who will put them in touch with employers who need their services.

CLEARANCE FOR INLET VALVE

Do Not Run as Hot as Exhaust Valve and Consequently Do Not Expand as Much.

Inlet valves do not run as hot as exhaust valves and consequently do not expand as much. For this reason less clearance is allowed between the stems and pushrods of mechanically operated inlet valves than is allowed in the same units of exhaust valves.

Wear and Tear on Chain. The wear and tear on the tire chain centers at the links to which the cross chains are attached, and for this reason moving these links from time to time spreads the wear.

AMERICAN FLAG IS NOW IN ALL PORTS

UNITED STATES IS IN THE WAY OF BECOMING ONE OF THE MARITIME NATIONS

RESULT OF THE GREAT WAR

Ships Built and Acquired by the Government Are Being Turned Over to Private Ownership—Training Men to Operate Them.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington—The United States may yet become a maritime nation. It is now making long strides in that direction. A member of the consular service who came in the other day from his post on the other side of the earth remarked that the American flag may now be seen regularly where it was seldom, if ever, seen prior to the war. American freight carrying vessels are now entering most of the important ports of the world, said this consular officer. "It is a new experience for those of us who are representing our government in far away places to see American built ships sailing under the American flag and carrying products taking their place alongside the ships of the other great maritime countries."

Now that the men who fought in France have nearly all been brought home the shipping board will be able to place a great many more ships in the freight carrying trade. During the last few days several additional assignments have been made to South American routes and the number of boats carrying freight to European ports is being increased almost daily. As yet permanent American trade routes have not been established. The government is co-operating with the exporters in sort of trading its way in developing trade routes. Within the next few months it all goes well a number of routes will be put on a permanent basis. These routes when established will carry both freight and mail. The first of them will connect the United States in a more satisfactory way with South America. Later if plans do not go awry, routes reaching to the Orient will be established.

War Made the Merchant Marine

Development in shipbuilding in this country has already progressed enough to warrant the statement that foreign trade is no longer a question of ships. When the United States entered the war in April 1917 the country at that time, everybody knows, was without a merchant marine worth mentioning. Since the war began the government has launched 1,468 ships of 5,496,038 gross tonnage. Keels for 289 additional ships have been laid and many of these vessels are almost ready to be launched. Of the government ships launched 1,004 were built of steel, 449 of wood and 18 were of composite build. Every one is a large modern freight carrier.

The government since the beginning of the war has also come into possession of a large number of ships some freight and some passenger through purchase. It is also the possessor of the German owned ships that were interned in harbors in this country when we entered the war. A few of these German ships may go to other countries in the final distribution but most of them will continue to sail under the American flag. The government is not operating all the ships it has built or has bought since the war began. A good many have passed to private ownership. It has been the policy however to insist that all vessels disposed of by sale shall remain under the American flag.

All to Be Privately Owned

Congress it is assumed will in due time authorize the shipping board to sell all government owned ships. The board some time ago recommended private ownership and operation as a fundamental policy for commercial shipping. It is its report to congress it advocated legislation which would authorize the government to retire from commercial shipbuilding ship owning, and ship operating activities at the earliest date which may be convenient and practical. Thus far congress has not taken up the subject but it plans to do so at the next session. Now companies for the operation of ships are being organized nearly every week. The ships that are now being sold by the shipping board are as a rule passing into the hands of these companies.

The problem of obtaining men to operate American built ships is being solved. Some months ago the government sent through the shipping board a lettered some unusual inducements in order to interest young men in the service. For one thing it established here a seagoing school in which a large number of young men were trained in the business of taking charge of the cargo of an ocean freight carrier. The young men trained in this school and who had never had any particular experience at sea are now making regular trips to foreign ports and the estimate is that invariably they like it. Of the 2,000 young men who crossed to France at war's end 10,000 have acquired a taste for sea life and are falling into the new maritime organization.

In nearly every port along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts operators of privately owned ships have opened schools for the training of ordinaries.

Sturdy and Sensible School Dress

Dressing the girl in her early teens for school ought to be a simple matter, easily disposed of—and it is with mothers who are gifted with good judgment coupled with the courage of their convictions. But the young person from thirteen to seventeen or eighteen is apt to be self-conscious and self-centered, she is not always willing to defer to the judgment of older heads than hers and here is where difficulties confront the mothers. Schools that require a uniform in things easy, there is no room for comparisons where all are dressed alike and dress does not distract the attention of the young people from their work.

There is another advantage in the uniform. It teaches the young girls that it is not so much what they wear as how they wear it that counts, a lesson that will be valuable in after years when the matter of apparel becomes important to them. But where no uniform is required, it falls to the lot of mothers to teach their daughters to suit clothes to occupation and occasion and to value neatness above everything else.

Sturdy materials and fast colors are required for school clothes. They must be well made and if washable—so much the better. The school dress for a young girl, shown above will look well in either wool or cotton goods. It has a plaid skirt and plain middie blouse, with plaid belt and neck binding. It is as good a model for school wear as one could ask, of a character that is guaranteed not to take the young ladies' minds off the intricacies of "square root," "decimals" or any of the "graphies."

"Reading" and "riddle" and "rhetoric" occupy the school hours of the smaller girl and play absorbs the balance of her waking hours. She rejoices in middie or one-piece frocks that do not interfere with her freedom. A dress for her school days shown in the picture is made of dark colored wool cloth, with a collar and inset in the cuffs of lighter colored wool, or some strong color contrast, as red with dark blue or dark gray. It is made with a straight panel at the front. The simplest sort of pattern is applied with narrow braid at the top and bottom of the panel. Two narrow belts of the same material as the dress slip through cloth slides and are fastened with buckles at the front.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While If Your Bladder Is Troubling You.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat. I say a well known authority. Meat is an acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's uric acid, waste else you have backache, a sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels of the get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then see fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life-saver to the uric acid eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a deliciously effervescent lithia water drink—Ady.

LIFTING OF WAR BAN NOW LOOMS AS THE NEXT DISTURBING FACTOR

That and Anticipation Lever Act Will Cause a Big Price Advance.

PROSPECT NOT PLEASANT

To Operators Who Anticipate Serious
Interruption to Operation Following
Pay Days and Holidays; Region Now Moving Along Quietly, Progressively.

From The Weekly Courier.

Having adapted itself to the conditions developed by the coal strike, and feeling reasonably assured that a settlement providing for a certain advance in the wages of miners in the unionized districts will be the eventual outcome of the negotiations now in progress in Washington, which will be followed by the custom, by an increase in the coke workers, the Connellsville region continues to move along in an orderly, progressive manner.

Although the demand for coke is easily absorbing production from day to day, and the state of the market is such that prices could very readily be forced to high levels, were producers so disposed, they continue to apply the restraint necessary to hold the range within the limits of the war-time fixed prices, and otherwise adhere to the wise course of keeping in line with what is interpreted as the policy of the Fuel Administration in the premises. This conservative attitude is being exhibited by producers so generally that it has been tacitly accepted by all of them as the prudent thing to do, rather than to seek to gain any temporary advantage from a situation which has many opportunities along that line.

While this temper and mood tends to promote a feeling of satisfaction that the situation is being kept well in hand, and the larger interests of the industry are thereby being protected and conserved, there is growing concern as to what will happen when the war-time prohibition ban is lifted and the Lever Act becomes inoperative as a means of restricting fuel prices. With the intimate knowledge the operators of the region have of the effects unrestricted liquor sales have upon production, it is quite natural that they view with no little apprehension the near return to a "wet" state.

Based upon the experience of years preceding July 1 last the operators are freely making the prediction that lifting the ban on booze will very quickly send coke prices to a high mark. The logic of the matter may be left to those outside the region, but to those within it, the prediction is sound, nevertheless. Having shared with some fortitude a rather protracted "dry" spell the coke workers will feel a sort of obligation to make up for lost opportunities, to indulge in pay day relaxations and to "let it go" quite likely, certainly, many operators insist to celebrate the return of King Boozie with an abundance of drink, and they will forget the relation they sustain to a very important industry. In consequence production will be lessened with each recurring pay day and upon any and all holidays that may intervene. The habits of industry acquired during the "dry" months will be forgotten and men will work only as they are moved after the supply of spirits is exhausted.

With the Lever Act annulled by the proclamation of peace, there will remain no legal means of restricting prices. There may even be little tendency to attempt it voluntarily, leaving the matter to the old-time regulator—supply and demand. The inevitable result, as producers now view it, will be a big increase in prices because of the decreases in production which the operators will be utterly powerless to prevent. It is not a pleasant prospect that looms up before the operators, but it will be one the trade cannot safely disregard or count upon as not likely to happen.

Car supply has been good during the past week, the distribution average being close to 100 per cent for the whole region. The necessity for shifting loaded coal cars, held on sidings under orders of the Fuel Administration, has hampered other car movement considerably, but otherwise car service has been very satisfactory. While there remain a large number of coal loads on sidings the outgoing shipments are at present just about equaling the mine loadings, hence the situation in this respect is becoming no worse than a week ago.

Estimated production of coke during the week ending Saturday, November 15, was 225,224 tons, distributed by the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 136,451, an increase of 2,425 tons; Lower Connellsville, 88,773, an increase of 2,813 tons, or a total increase of 5,238 tons.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 160,224, an increase of 2,275 tons; merchant, 65,000, an increase of 2,963 tons.

A net gain of 258 ovens, all at merchant plants, was made in the active list during the week. The additions were: Allison, No. 1, 50; Huestead, 100; Low Photo, 10; Marlon, 26; Orient, 10; Tower Hill, 47; Washington, 30. The decreases were: Katharine, 10; Searight, 30.

COKE TRADE SUMMARY

Although the coke region progresses quietly, pending a settlement of the coal strike, the results of which have been largely anticipated, the near approach of the time when the prohibition of booze will be followed by lifting the war time ban on liquor, causes this event to loom large as the next disturbing factor to harass the coke trade. It is regarded as inevitably certain, by all experienced operators, that a return to pre-war status with respect to the sale of liquor will have the effect of lifting down production because of the assistance and enthusiasm with which the event will be celebrated after each pay day and upon all intervening holidays.

The shipment of the Lever Act will remove all liquor from the market, and the very natural reaction, under such circumstances, is that there will be a big advance.

Production made a further but slight gain last week, totalling 225,000 tons, or within 4,000 tons of the corresponding week of 1918. Prices for spot furnace coke at $5.00. Producers have lost the tendency toward fancy prices, indicated last week, the present range being $7.00 to $7.50. Contracts for 1920 are being negotiated, some parties reaching agreement upon a flat price basis, with the proviso that the forthcoming increase in wages be taken into account on settlement.

WEST PENN PLANTS PROVE REVELATION TO BUSINESS MEN

Chicago.
Fabulous opportunities knock at the door of the West Penn, so to speak, the guests of the West Penn are informed. The business in the power and lighting field has been growing by leaps and bounds. Earnings of the system have increased from $2,000,000 a year in 1915 to $7,000,000 in 1919 and the possibilities are unlimited, the financial agent of the company enthusiastically said.

When the West Penn power plant was first erected its capacity in power generation was 6,000 kilowatts. There are now individual consumers that are using more than the original output. Mention was made of one consumer who has been using 20,000 horsepower and who has contracted for an additional 50,000-horsepower. It has been demonstrated through the company's field that current can be generated and transmitted by the West Penn cheaper than it can be made at the manufacturing plants, a result of which has been the coal companies and others have been dismantling their plants and buying West Penn power.

As was announced in The Courier yesterday, the West Penn is preparing to engage extensively in a new venture—the carrying of freight and express. For three years the company has been handling limited traffic between Uniontown and Brownsville. Within a short time this is to be extended to cover the main line from Uniontown to Greensburg and some of the branches. The necessary equipment is to be made ready shortly. Officials of the company are at work on a schedule of rates. Transportation will be rapid. There will be no slow freight. The exact date for the inauguration of the service has not been made known. Isaac Sisley of Fairchance, well known here, has been engaged as chief of the new department and will have his headquarters here.

Freight houses are to be erected in Connellsville, Uniontown and Greensburg. Vice President Williston Fish said: "A survey of the field will be made to determine the possibilities. This will be under the direction of A. B. Cole of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company who recently completed such a survey in Philadelphia. Mr. Cole was among those at the luncheon at the Smith House but did not accompany the party on the inspection tour."

During the speechmaking, after the luncheon, Vice President Fish took occasion to pay a tribute to the men who operate the trolley cars. There are no better operated cars in the United States than those of the West Penn system, careful observation during extensive travel has shown, he declared, for is there a trolley system superior to that of which he is the directing head.

Aside from the main object of the calling the business men together, "getting acquainted with our progress," an advantage was taken of the opportunity to have the business men form a better acquaintanceship with the men who direct the great trolley and power systems. It was a pleasant afternoon for all and one that will be in the minds of all for many a day.

W. S. Anderson, chief clerk, was in charge of arrangements for the luncheon and inspection. Associated with him in looking after the guests were Superintendent Daniel Durle and Assistant General Superintendent E. J. Kooser of the railways department, Claim Agent T. B. Donnelly, L. E. Hankinson, in charge of the power plant, Fred C. Smith, the master mechanic there, George E. Brown, C. V. Elliott, P. T. Kamerer, Robert W. Eichler and S. J. Witt, representing several departments. Visiting officials were Vice Presidents Williston Fish, J. S. Jenks, R. B. Keating and George G. Bell, General Manager H. L. Mitchell of the railways, E. S. Haymond, manager of the sales department, and C. W. Brooks, assistant real estate agent.

During the afternoon the party was photographed at the car barn by J. W. Suter.

BIG RED CROSS PEACE PROGRAM

New Plans of Organization
Bring It to Every Person and Home in Country.

AS IMPORTANT AS IN WAR

Nation-Wide Activity For Improving Public Health and Expansion of Its Nursing Resources Two Objects.

The peace program of the American Red Cross has just been made public and it is "gigantic" in its scope. It is so comprehensive that it will bring the activities of the organization into practically every home and into the life of every person in the country.

The Program.

Foremost will be nation-wide activity for the promotion of public health and hand-in-hand with this crusade will go a vigorous campaign for the extension of the country's nursing resources, the broadening of the Red Cross Home Service, which in the war proved so helpful through the assistance it was able to give the families of soldiers and sailors, to be of general usefulness where other social agencies are lacking; greatly increased Junior Red Cross activities; extension of Red Cross facilities for emergency disaster relief; completion of relief measures for the victims of the war in this country and overseas, and preparation to fulfill whatever duties may be laid upon it as the volunteer relief society officially authorized to assist the army and navy.

The plan of the Red Cross public health campaign calls for co-operation with other existing health promotion and disease prevention organizations throughout the United States, acting by itself, where no health agency now exists, in an effort to reduce the high mortality due to preventable disease and to improve general health conditions.

The Public Health.

Public health nursing will be one of the important features of this campaign. Red Cross public health nurses will be assigned to as many small communities as possible, thus extending to the rural population the bedside nursing, school inspection, classes in hygiene and home nursing and search for tuberculosis and other preventable disease that has been so effective in the cities and larger towns.

In this connection it is planned to offer to every woman in America instruction in home sanitation, hygiene, care of the sick and dietetics, thus providing first-hand knowledge of how to keep the family well and what to do where illness or accident cannot be avoided. These courses are now being introduced in the public schools and colleges and are offered department store employees, factory operatives, girl scouts, nursemaids and others, fitting them to help combat infant and child mortality, malnutrition, unsanitary living conditions, preventable disease and epidemics in their own homes.

The seven thousand public health nurses in the United States are far too few to meet the ever-increasing demands for their services.

Home Service.

Home service among the families of American soldiers and sailors has brought out the important fact that in 80 per cent of the places where Home Service is now operating there is no other social work agency. Accordingly there is an imperative demand, national in scope, that this service with its thousands of highly trained workers, be extended and expanded to assist the needy families in communities where other neighborly relief is not at hand.

As always, the Red Cross must hold itself ready for instant relief service in times of public disaster, such as great fires, floods, cyclones, shipwrecks, earthquakes, pestilence, famines and epidemics. Experience in the war and the great organization built up through that emergency will with quickly available funds make this branch of Red Cross activity more effective than ever before.

The Junior Work.

The Junior Red Cross, with its millions of members in the schools, public and private, throughout the United States, has been "rallying" for $500,000 to be called upon in broad, this amount constituting 90 per cent of the money the Juniors raise, the remainder to be used for local relief in co-operation with Home Service. It is also planned to have the Junior members supplement and assist in the work of the national organization wherever possible, with special regard to the needs of children.

The turning over to the American Red Cross of the surplus medical and surgical supplies and supplementary food stores of the American army abroad for distribution among the still suffering native populations, together with the foreign relief programs still being carried out largely in Poland, the Balkans and Siberia, necessitates the continuance of Red Cross operations overseas.

High Temperature May Mislead.
"High temperature does not always mean fever," for the body heat may be increased by exercise or eating, and a rise of as much as 1.5 degrees Fahrenheit has been traced to mental work. Dr. E. B. Weiss of Indianapolis reports that drafted men before examination showed an average rise of 0.3 degrees from the anxiety and suspense, with a corresponding depression below normal after examination. In 40 nurses the fall after examination averaged 0.6 degrees. The possible rise plus the daily elevation may lead to false conclusions if the physician is not careful.

TWO SMALL HATS

The top one is of gray beaver cloth bound and banded with blue satin. A pink silk rose holds the gray tassel at the side. Below the odd shaped toque is of tan felt and trimmed with flowers—pink, blue and lavender. Deep purple ribbon runs through the front and makes a bow at the back.

A PARTY FROCK

She has pushed back her straight black cape so that every one may behold her frock of purest white or gaily with its fashionably slender bodice and youthfully puffy skirts. For yoke and sleeves the organza is finely tucked and bordered about with lace. A wreath of pink roses each with its blue ribbon streamer adds its bit of color, and as the frock boasts its train in tucks so it ends at the bottom of the skirt.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Aroclor and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled. Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passages and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL
HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-Feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana. "Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive."

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.
Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.
All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.
Even a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

USE FOE DUGOUT AS REFRIGERATOR

Trenches Still Bear Marks of Hard-Fought Struggle.

CELL STORY OF HARDSHIPS

Little crosses mark resting places of fallen soldiers and over them poppies nod—much of the debris of the battlefield already has been collected—people appear happy and cheerful.

Lining the banks of the Yser river, far as the eye can see, are the trenches which for so many months during the war were occupied by the Belgian and German armies. The Belgians on the south bank and the Germans on the north. They still bear many marks of shell and rifle fire and mounds of straw lying on the damp floors still convey some idea of the hardships to which the soldiers were subjected.

On the German side of the river is a dugout, built to resist the heaviest projectiles, and cool even on a hot day. It was a favorite gathering spot for the Germans when the fighting was fiercest, but it now serves the more useful purpose of a refrigerator. Instead of the bunks and chairs which once lined its sides, now rows of piles of beer cases filled with refreshments for the soldier guard at work cleaning up the ground.

Shows Marks of Struggle. Behind the dugout the bodies of three soldiers—two Belgians and one German—were buried on the bank of a tiny pond made by bursting shells. Little crosses mark the resting places and over them poppies nod.

Along the Yser one may plainly see the effects of the hard-fought struggle. Here and there the top of a dugout has been crushed in, and further along the duckboards from an abandoned trench may be seen sticking through the mud. Within sight of the bridge the muzzles of a field piece, rusted and useless, point to the sky.

Much of the debris of the battlefield has already been collected. Miles upon miles of barbed wire have been reclaimed. On the tangled remains, German and Allied, which stretched in front of the lines, but at some points along the river bank the old entanglements still remain, rusted and twisted on stakes which are fast falling on the ground. There are great piles of reeled wire which has not been unwound since it left the wire mills while the military telephone systems are still stretched upon short stakes.

Return to Ruined Homes

The people of Dixmude, like the people of every other destroyed Belgian town, are gradually returning to the ruins of their homes. The help of the government is giving them heart and strength to begin life over again. Here one may see a man patching up a shell hole in his house with a few bricks taken from the ruins of his neighbor's home, and in another place men, and women, too, are patching a roof.

But these instances are few. In most cases the destruction was so complete that nothing is left for the poor Belgian to build a new house. But the people are happy and cheerful. They go about their work with smiling faces and merry laughter. They are back home.

ICE FREEZES IN SUMMER

But There Is None Formed in That Cave in Winter.

Ice freezes in summer time, but not in winter, in the Decoran Ice Cave, in Wineshick county, northeastern Iowa. While ice does not invariably form in the walls of the cave all summer, it is there many of the warmer months, while in the fall and early winter the walls are dry and bare.

The State Geological society's explanation of the phenomenon is that in the winter the temperature in the cave, the same as outside, goes below the freezing point. However, all moisture near the surface has been sucked in the ground and rocks by the frost, and no water finds its way into the cave. The walls of the cavern get colder and colder, and retain the cold. When spring thaws release the water, it trickles into the cave across the cold walls and then freezes. That condition continues until late in summer. The cave is the only one of its kind known in Iowa.

GUARD LONG-RANGE GUNS

Germans Holding Huge Cannon Well Protected in Coast Fortresses.

The whereabouts of the big guns with which the Germans bombarded Paris during the last few months of the war is a question frequently asked both in Germany and out of it.

Mej. Trepper, formerly attached to the German war ministry and a participant in the armistice parleys, was recently asked whether Germany had pledged herself to hand over these guns.

Trepper is quoted as saying that Germany had given no such pledge, and added that if the French wished to know where the guns were, they can be told that they are well hidden and guarded in German fortresses on the coast.

Every Connellsville Druggist Is Grossly Underpaid

How Much He Gives in Service Compared to What He Receives in Return.

No professional man in Connellsville serves the community better or more conscientiously than the druggist.

He accommodates you with postage stamps at cost; maintains a general information bureau and free waiting room; his sign is a first aid hospital conducted without reward, he gets up in the middle of the night to answer your emergency calls.

Night and day, he is consulted often by the sick and the suffering. He gives his professional services without fee. His only reward, and it is a small one at that, comes when you make a purchase from his stock of merchandise.

You accept his recommendation just as you accept that of your lawyer, your doctor or your banker, because you know that his word is good and that he knows best. He can't afford to make mistakes—and he doesn't. He knows that his whole success in his chosen profession depends on accuracy—on skill—on keeping faith with his customers.

He stakes his reputation a hundred times a day with a hundred different customers—but his judgment is founded on knowledge and experience—the knowledge and experience of men of his profession handed down through the ages, through schools, colleges and text books—and the knowledge and experience which come in the day's work and in association and conference with others in his profession.

The druggist of today doesn't guess. He knows. And one of the reasons he knows is because he insists that the preparations he sells shall measure up to the highest standards.

To recommend an article, the druggist must, of course, know what it contains and how it is made, and this was one reason for the formation of a co-operative national association of druggists and physicians who prepare a complete line of household remedies and toilet goods. This association is the American Druggists' Syndicate.

This is the largest enterprise of its kind in the world. More than 28,000 druggists and physicians own and operate it, and guarantee its products. They know that A. D. S. Milk of Magnesia is the best in the world, they guarantee that A. D. S. Aspirin meets the highest standards of quality, they stand back of A. D. S. Peridol Tootie Paste—the tooth paste which whitens like Peroxide—because it is incomparably the best. And the same druggists in the same way are squarely behind the entire family of A. D. S. products.

It means everything to you to have such a guarantee behind the remedies you buy—a guarantee based on the scientific knowledge and experience of thousands of experts. When you buy an A. D. S. product from an A. D. S. druggist, you may do so in the confident belief that you have secured the finest possible product at the lowest possible price.

Ask any A. D. S. Druggist for A. D. S. product the next time you need any household remedy or toilet article sold in a drug store.—Adv.

UGLY CHARGE

"I understand Mrs. Twobottle and Mrs. Gadsden have had a falling out."

No Need to be Thin, Scrawny or Sallow

If you are thin and want to be plump, if you have wrinkles in your face and you are not proud of it, if you are sallow or subject to pimples or skin diseases, take Mi-o-na stomach tablets for two weeks and notice the change.

The majority of the thin people are thin because the stomach does not perform its duties properly. It is not receiving sufficient of the natural digestive juices and in consequence does not extract from the food enough nutrients to nourish every part of the body.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are intended to build up the stomach so that it will not properly extract from the food the elements necessary to form flesh.

If you are thin try two weeks' treatment of Mi-o-na stomach tablets—they are small, easily swallowed and are sold on the guarantee of money back if they do not overcome chronic indigestion, acute or chronic, stop stomach distress, belching, heartburn, sour stomach, and any after dinner distress.

Father—Some day that child will go into a jeweler's and try to buy a nickel's worth of diamonds.—Cartoons Magazine.

Reliable.

"When I moved in my landlord told me he was going to do a lot of things about this place."

"Doesn't he keep his promise?"

"Only one of them. When he says he is going to raise the rent he never fails."

SETTING THINGS RIGHT.

"I am told that you referred to me as an idiot."

"The idea."

"Don't try to evade the issue, madam. Did you or did you not call me an idiot?"

"Certainly not. I wouldn't be so unkind. I merely said your face threw my little Christopher into convulsions."

Away With Him.

THE COW PUNCHER

By ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Author of
"Enchanted, and Other Poems"

Illustrations by IRWIN MYERS

Copyright by Harper &amp; Brothers

"What, Dave Eiden, the millionaire?" Bert Morrison had said. "Everybody knows him." And then the newspaper woman had gone on to tell what a figure Dave Eiden was in the business life of the city. "One of our biggest young men," Bert Morrison had said. "He served a little, likes his own company best, but absolutely white."

That gave a new turn to the situation. Irene had always wanted Dave to be a success; suddenly she doubted whether she had wanted him to be so big a success. She had doubted whether she should wish to marry Dave;
she had never allowed herself to doubt that Dave would wish to marry her.
Secretly, she had expected to rather dazzle him with her ten years' development—with the culture and knowledge which study and travel and life had added to the charm of her young girlhood; and suddenly she realized that her luster would shine but dimly in the greater glory of his own.

It was easy to locate the office of Conward & Eiden; it stood on a principal corner of a principal street.
There she led her mother, and found herself looking on the marble floors of the richly appointed waiting room in a secret excitement which she could with difficulty conceal. She was, indeed, very uncertain about the next development. Her mother had to be reckoned with.

A young man asked, "What could be done for them?"

"We want to see the head of the firm," said Mrs. Hardy. "We want to buy a house."

They were shown into Conward's office. Conward gave them the welcome of a man who expects to make money out of his visitors. He placed a very comfortable chair for Mrs.
Hardy; he adjusted the blinds to a nicety; he discarded his cigarette and beamed upon them with as great a show of cordiality as his somewhat beefy appearance would permit. Mrs.
Hardy outlined her life history with considerable detail and ended with the confession that the West was not as bad as she had feared and, anyway,
it was a case of living here or dying elsewhere, so she would have to make the best of it. And here they were. And might they see a house?

Conward appeared to be reflecting.
At a matter of fact, he was in this inexperienced buyer an opportunity to reduce his holdings in anticipation of the impending crash. His difficulty was that he had no key to the financial resources of his visitors. The only thing was to throw out a feeler.
"You are wanting a nice home, I take it, that can be bought at a favorable price for cash. You would consider an investment of, say—"

"I'm sure," Mrs. Hardy supplied the information, for which he was waiting. "About twenty-five thousand dollars," she said.

"We can hardly invest that much long interrupted in a single day. We must have something to live on."
"I hope here live on the profits of their investments," do they not, Mr.
Conward? Mrs. Hardy required.

"Oh, certainly," Conward agreed, and he plunged into a mass of incidents to show how profitable investments had been to other clients of the firm. At his mood of deliberation came only to his of bristling. I had moved a car, and in a few minutes his clients were looking over the property which he had recommended. Mrs.
Hardy was an amateurish buyer, her tendency being alternately to express of caution on one side and regios-ness on the other. Conward's manner pleased her; the house he showed pleased her, and she was eager to have it over with. But he was too slow to appear to encourage a hasty decision. He did not seize upon Mrs.
Hardy's remark that the house seemed perfectly satisfactory; on the contrary, he insisted on showing other houses, which he quoted at their impossible figures, that presently the old lady was in a feverish haste to make a deposit lest some other buyer should forestall her.

Back in Conward's office, while the agreement was being drawn, Irene was possessed of a convincing desire to consult with Dave Eiden. She was uneasy about this transaction in which her mother proposed so precipitately to invest the greater part of her life fortune. "I think I would hesitate, mother," she cried. "If you buy this house we will have only a few thousand dollars left. Your health may demand other expenditures."

"My health was never better," Mrs.
Hardy interrupted. "And I'm not going to miss a chance like this health or no health. You have heard Mr.
Conward tell how many people have grown wealthy buying property and selling it again. And I will sell it again when I get my price."

"It is as your mother says," Con-ward interjected. "There are very rapid increases in value. I would not be surprised if you should be offered an advance of ten thousand dollars on

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated, Uric Acid Deposits Are Removed and the Rheumatic Poisons Start to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that it two bottles of Allenburys, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenburys has been tried and tested for years and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Allenburys relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It seizes out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts.
Relieved relief often comes in two days,
and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenburys, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenburys decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed the Connelville Drug Co. to guarantee it in every instance.—Adv.

This place before said.
"There must be an end somewhere," Irene murmured, rather weakly.

"But her mother was writing a check for five thousand dollars
"I shall give you five thousand dollars now," she said, "and the balance when you give me the deed, or whatever it is. That is the proper way, isn't it?"

"Well, it's done," said Irene with an uneasy laugh which her excitement pitched a little higher than she had intended.

In an adjoining room Dave Eiden heard that laugh, and it stirred some remembrance in him. Instantly, he connected it with Irene Hardy. The truth was Irene Hardy had been in the background of his mind during every waking hour since Bert Morrison had dropped her bombshell upon him. And now that voice—

Dave had no plan. He simply walked into Conward's office. His eye took in the little group and the mind behind caught something of its portent. Irene's beauty! What a quickening of the pulses was his as he saw in this splendid woman the girl who had stirred and returned his youthful passion! But Dave had poise. He walked straight to Irene.

"I heard your voice," he said, in quiet tones that gave no hint of the emotion beneath. "I am very glad to see you again." He took the hand which she extended in a firm, warm grip; there was nothing in it, as Irene protested to herself, that was more than firm and warm, but it set her finger tips a-tingle.

"My mother, Mr. Eiden," she managed to say, and she hoped her voice was as well controlled as his had been.
Mrs. Hardy looked on the clean-built young man with the dark eyes and the brown, smooth face, but the name suggested nothing. "You remember," Irene went on, "I told you of Mr. El-den. It was at his ranch we stayed when father was hurt."

"But I thought he was a cow puncher!" exclaimed Mrs. Hardy.

"Times change quickly in the West, madam," said Dave. "Most of our business men—at least, those bred in the country—have thrown a lance in the day. You should hear them brag of their star-fogging pet in the Ranch-men's Club."

Irene's eyes danced. Dave had already turned the tables; where her mother had implied contempt he had set up a note of pride.

"Oh, I suppose," said her mother, for lack of a better answer. "Everything is so absurd in the West. But you were good to my daughter, and to poor, dear Andrew. If only he had been spared. Women are so unused to these business responsibilities, Mr.
Conward. It is fortunate there are a few reliable firms upon which we can lean in our inexperience."

"Mother has bought a house," Irene explained to Dave. "We thought this was a safe place to come"—A look on Eiden's face caused her to pause.
"Why, what is wrong?" she said.

Dave looked at Conward, at Mrs.
Hardy, and at Irene. He was instantaneously aware that Conward had "stung" them. It was common knowledge in inside circles that the bottom was going out. The firm of Conward & Eiden had been scurrying for cover, as quietly and secretly as possible, to avoid alarming the public, but scurrying for cover, nevertheless. And Dave had acquiesced in that policy. His position was extremely difficult.

"I don't think I would be in a hurry to buy," he said, slowly turning his eyes on his partner. "You would, perhaps be wiser to rent a home for a while. Rents are becoming easier."

"But I have bought," said Mrs.
Hardy, and there was triumph rather than regret in her voice. "I have paid my deposit."

"It is the policy of this firm," Eiden continued, "not to force or take advantage of hurried decisions. The fact that you have already made a deposit does not alter that policy. I think I may speak for my partner and the firm when I say that your deposit will be held to your credit for thirty days, during which time it will constitute an option on the property which you have selected. If, at the end of that time, you are still of your present mind, the transaction can go through as now planned; and, if you have changed, your mind your deposit will be returned."

Conward shifted under Dave's direct eye. He preferred to look at Mrs.
Hardy. "What Mr. Eiden has told you about the policy of the firm is quite true," he managed to say. "But, as it happens, this transaction is not with Conward & Eiden, but with me personally. I find it necessary to dispose of the property which I have just sold to you at such an exceptional price"—he was looking at Mrs. Hardy —"and naturally I cannot run a chance of having my plans overturned by any possible change of mind on your part."

"I am entirely satisfied," said Mrs.
Hardy. "The fact that Mr. Eiden wants to get the property back makes me more satisfied," she added, with the peculiarly irritating laugh of a woman who thinks she is extrordinarily shrewd and is only very silly.

"The agreement is signed?" said Dave. He walked to the desk and picked up the documents, and the check, that lay upon them. His eye ran down the familiar contract. "This agreement is in the name of Conward & Eiden," he said. "This check is payable to Conward & Eiden."

Conward's livid face had become white, and it was with difficulty he controlled his anger. They are all printed that way," he explained. "I am going to have them indorsed over to me."

"You are not," said Dave. "You are charging this woman twenty-five thousand dollars for a house that won't bring ten thousand. The firm of Con-ward & Eiden will have nothing to do with that transaction. It won't even indorse it over."

A fire was burning in the grate.
Dave walked to it and very slowly and deliberately thrust the agreement into the flame.

"Well, if that doesn't heat all!" Mrs.
Hardy ejaculated. "Are all cow punchers so discourteous?"

"I mean no discourtesy," said Dave.
"If my behavior has seemed abrupt, I assure you I have only sought to serve Doctor Hardy's widow—and his daughter."

"It is a peculiar service," Mrs. Hardy answered, curtly.

"I can only apologize for my partner's behavior," said Conward. "It need not, however, affect the transaction in the slightest degree. A new agreement will be drawn at once—an agreement in which the firm of Conward & Eiden will not be concerned."

"That will be more satisfactory," said Mrs. Hardy. She intended the remark for Dave's ears, but he had moved to a corner of the room and was conversing in low tones with Irene.

"I am sorry I had to make your mother's acquaintance under circum-

"Are All Cow Punchers So Discourteous?"

stances which, I fear, she will not even try to understand," he had said to Irene.

"Oh, Dave—Mr. Eiden, I mean—that is—you don't know how proud you don't know how much of a man you made me feel you are." She was flushed and excited. "Perhaps I shouldn't talk like this. Perhaps—"

"It all depends on one thing," Dave interrupted.

"What is that?"

"It all depends on whether we are Miss Hardy and Mr. Eiden or whether we are still Irene and Dave."

Her bright eyes had fallen to the floor and he could see the tremor of her fingers as they rested on the back of a chair. She did not answer him directly. But in a moment she spoke.

"Mother will buy the house from Mr. Conward," she said. "She is sure that. And when we are settled you will come and see me, won't you—Dave?"

When the Hardys had gone Conward turned to Eiden. "We had better try and find out where we stand," he said, trying to speak dispassionately, but there was a tremor in his voice.

"I agree," returned Eiden, who had no desire to evade the issue. "Do you consider it fair to select inexperienced women for your victims?"

Conward made a deprecating gesture. "There is nothing to be gained by quarrelling, Dave," he said. "Let us get at the facts. When we have agreed as to facts, then we may agree as to procedure."

"Shoot," said Dave. He stood with his shoulder toward Conward, watching the dusk settling about the foothill city.

"I think," said Conward, "we can agree that the boom is over. We have done well on paper. The thing now is to convert our paper into cash."

WILLIAM WILL BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

ONE OF THE FIRST DUTIES OF
THE ALLIED AND ASSOCIATED POWERS AFTER PEACE.

TO DEMAND HIS SURRENDER

Doubt About Attitude of Dutch Gov.
Government in This Matter—Action of Commission on Responsibilities Explained by Lansing.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—One of the first duties of the allies and associated powers after the peace treaty with Germany shall become effective will be to bring William II of Hohenzollern, formerly German emperor, to trial "for a supreme offense against international morality and sanctity of treaties." A special tribunal will be constituted to try the accused. It will be composed of five judges, one appointed by each of the following powers: The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The treaty of peace stipulates that the special tribunal will in its decision "be guided by the highest motives of international policy, with a view to vindicating the solemn obligations of international undertakings and validity of international morality." The treaty says that it shall be the duty of this tribunal to fix the punishment which it considers should be imposed. It is generally assumed that President Wilson will designate one of the members of the supreme court of the United States to represent this government on the tribunal.

The first step toward bringing the ex-keiser to trial will be to address a letter of request to the government of the Netherlands for his surrender to the allied and associated powers. The talk one hears at the embassies of the various European governments here is that William and his friends will certainly resist the effort to have the Netherlands surrender him, and there is a good deal of speculation as to what the attitude of the Netherlands government will be in the matter. In any event, it is anticipated that the process of getting possession of the person of the former keiser will consume a good deal of time.

Views of Responsibility Commission.
Secretary of State Lansing since his return from Paris, has been called on many times to explain why it is that there is some doubt as to whether the former emperor can be convicted. It fell to the lot of Mr. Lansing to preside over the commission on responsibilities, constituted by a resolution of the peace conference, and it was this commission that dealt with the question of individual responsibilities for the war and also for violations of the laws and customs of war.

The first session of that commission, according to Secretary Lansing, developed a unanimous desire on the part of members of the commission that William be brought to trial for a criminal offense and that the trial be held at a permanent high tribunal which should be created for the express purpose of determining his guilt and imposing on him a suitable penalty for his crimes. Mr. Lansing has said to members of the foreign relations committee of the senate, who have been particularly anxious to know the inside facts about the probability of the former emperor's being convicted, that the commission in its responsibilities decided that there were three charges that could be alleged against him: (1) That he was responsible for the war, (2) that he was responsible for violations of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxembourg, and (3) that he was chargeable with the heaviest violations of the laws and customs of war by the German army. Surely Guilty on Two Counts.

It was the unanimous belief of the commission, according to the secretary of state, that there was ample evidence at hand to substantiate the first two charges. It was shown to the satisfaction of the commission that the keiser could have prevented the war and that since he did not prevent it, he was responsible for its beginning; that he knew what was being done in Belgium and made no effort to prevent it, although he was the one man in the world that could have prevented it. The commission was not so sure about these being sufficient evidence to convict on the third charge, for it was admitted in part at least that after the war got under way, the keiser was not responsible for all the acts of the army and navy.

The work of the commission on responsibilities encountered no obstacles until it began to look for the law under which the keiser could be tried. In the end the commission was obliged to report to the peace conference that "it was recognized that he (the keiser) had committed a great moral crime, an unpardonable offense against humanity, but the commission is forced to find that there is no positive law declaring acts such as he has committed to be criminal and imposing a penalty on the perpetrator." The commission added that "this decision is reached with reluctance because of the firm conviction that the German ruler is guilty."

So, whether you've a Veteran in Your Home or not, let's make this the Greatest Thanksgiving ever was. And you had better begin your shopping early.

Linens Come First

Every woman adores fine table linen, while the soldier who has been dining from his mess kit on wooden tables, bleak and bare, will appreciate as never before snowy napery, delicate china, gleaming silver and sparkling cut glass, things which for two years have stood for the refinements of Civilization and HOME.

So, for His sake, linens of satiny smoothness and snowy whiteness should adorn the Thanksgiving table. It is linen just like this that we are showing in a good assortment of patterns, of excellent weight and moderate in price. Among them are:

Handsome Table Sets

WHEN THE SHADOWS LENGTHEN

When the children have pulled the old Gobbler's wishbone, when the evening's work is done and the honor gobble, the boys back home, are content to cuddle little people in their arms and bask in the glow of the big log fire—then's the time to dim the lights, to pull The NEW EDISON out and to play the old ballads and hymns of years ago.

And if some one puts on "The Long, Long Trail" or "Over There" it will be all right, for the boys are "over here" now, and the long trail's led home.

The New Edison

will grace both music and home. Eloquent with culture when silent; vibrant with music when Re-Creating. The New Edison matches its art with its appearance and the better you know furniture the more you will appreciate the beauty and purity of its lines, no matter what period the cabinet may represent. If you have no Edison, come hear ours and let us talk terms in time for Thanksgiving.

Who Knows?

There May Be Snow!

But even though the children and grandchildren come back to the old home traveling on nothing more romantic than a West Penn trolley, they'll be tired and cold when they arrive and you'll want to be sure you have plenty of soft, warm blankets and comforts to tuck them in and snowy spreads to make the beds inviting.

Here you will find good spreads of dependable quality, in crochet or dimity. The latter are priced from $2.85 to $4.50, and the former from $4.00 to $5.00.

New Blankets Just in

But they were bought last year and are priced accordingly at

$15 to $18 a pair

Beauty, warmth and long wear are all bound up in these double-bed-size blankets, woven from a mixture of long staple wool and fleecy white cotton, in beautiful pink and white, gray and white and blue and white plaids. We know there are no better blanket values in the city and we doubt if there are others so good.
